ALUMNI RELATIONS ANNOUNCEMENTS

Oral History Project

Southern has partnered with Publishing Concepts, Inc., to gather stories from alumni, attendees, and former faculty and staff to preserve our collective memories for future generations. Besides recording these stories as audio files, the company will print a coffee table book that can be easily displayed and shared with friends. We encourage everyone who has had meaningful experiences at Southern to reach out and contribute to the project. Call 1.855.976.2516 to share your story, or learn more by visiting southern.edu/oralhistoryproject.

Please note that while you will have the opportunity purchase the book and swag, a purchase is NOT required or expected for the inclusion of your story.

Alumni Association Tour: Tulips, D-Day, and the Rhine

Join fellow alumni and friends of Southern for a tour of beautiful sites and remarkable history in Holland, Belgium, France, and Germany. Experienced tour director Bill Wohlers, PhD, vice president emeritus of Student Services, will lead the trip. The tour dates are May 6-17, 2024. Learn more at southern.edu/alumnitour.

HONORED ALUMNI

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE

LeClare (Litch) Litchfield, '75

LeClare (Litch) Litchfield grew up in Maryland and graduated from Takoma Academy. He attended Columbia Union College in Maryland, then Southern Missionary College, where he majored in accounting before earning his degree in social work. While there, he got to know the late Professor Ed Lamb, who became a lifelong mentor and friend.

A scrap of paper on the dorm's bulletin board, which sought potential student missionaries in England, led to a life change. Litch answered this invitation and went with 11 fellow Southern students to work with Pastor Mike Stickland. The group performed varied outreach activities, such as stop-smoking programs, door-to-door work, an evangelistic series, and a coffeehouse ministry. This experience transformed Litch's faith into a personal relationship with Christ and inspired him to become a pastor.

After earning a theology degree at Britain's Newbold College, Litch pastored the Exeter and Southampton churches before returning to the United States to work at Pine Tree Academy in Maine. He moved back to the South, first as chaplain at Georgia-Cumberland Academy (seven years), then as pastor at Knoxville First Church (five years), and then as chaplain at Collegedale Academy (16 years). After an early retirement, he returned to work part-time on the pastoral staff at Collegedale Church of Seventh-day Adventists, where his ministry emphasis is studying Scripture with young people and pastoral visitation. Throughout Litch's ministry, he has loved giving Weeks of Prayer and speaking at camp meetings across America as well as in South Africa, New Zealand, Australia, and the Philippines. He also spent time every day during those events visiting with people individually.

In 1976, Litch married Shelly Jennings (attended), and they have enjoyed doing ministry together. Their most rewarding experience has been growing a family. Two teenage foster daughters (sisters Jody and Brenda Ballard) lived with them at GCA and still call them Mom and Dad. Their sons Ryan Litchfield, '08, and Adam Litchfield, '10, were born while at GCA, and their adopted daughter, Candace Litchfield, joined their family at age 17 while they lived in Collegedale. The Litchfields' five grandchildren are the source of much pride and joy.

Southern Adventist University alumni, faculty, and staff honor LeClare Litchfield for his tangible love for others and his dedication to pointing people toward Christ.

HONORED ALUMNI

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE

Leslie Louis, '73

Pastor Leslie D. Louis was born to missionary parents from India on the island of Ceylon (known today as Sri Lanka), where he spent most of his boyhood days. He holds a BA in Religion from Southern Missionary College, along with an MA in Education from Andrews University in Michigan. He has served in five conferences in North America including Florida, Ohio, Kentucky-Tennessee, Gulf States, and Carolina. His 50 years of service for the Seventh-day Adventist Church include being a classroom teacher, elementary school and academy principal, superintendent of education, pastor, and conference vice president and president.

Pastor Louis was elected to serve as the 37th president of the Carolina Conference of Seventh-day Adventists in 2011 and has been re-elected for a second and third term, which ends in August 2027. During this time, he has also served on the Board of Trustees for Southern and currently serves on both the Governance and Spiritual Life committees for the university.

Leslie is married to Carole (Dendy) (attended), who is truly the love of his life. They met while they were both students at what was then Southern Missionary College and will be celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary in December 2023. They have two children, Christopher, '01, and Catherine, '02, and three granddaughters: Isla, 12; Rosalind, 11; and Eloise, 7.

Leslie enjoys traveling, photography, camping, biking, and reading as leisure activities. He has had the opportunity to travel and visit countries on six continents. The greatest passions of his heart are to preach and share Christ through evangelism, prayer, and witnessing.

Southern Adventist University alumni, faculty, and staff honor Leslie Louis for his dedicated service to the Seventh-day Adventist Church through education and church leadership.

HONORED ALUMNI

YOUNG ALUMNA OF THE YEAR

Lauren (Swafford) Hall, '13

Lauren Hall is president and CEO of First Things First, a nonprofit organization headquartered in Chattanooga, Tennessee. For 26 years, First Things First has made an impact by helping families start and stay strong.

After graduating from Southern in 2013 with a BS in Mass Communications, Lauren began a career in marketing and advertising. Eventually she worked her way up to become head of production at The Johnson Group, an agency best known for its long-term partnerships with The Krystal Company, Cracker Barrel, MAPCO, and Erlanger Hospital.

In 2015, Lauren received an opportunity to transition her career to the nonprofit sector by joining First Things First as director of marketing. In this position, she helped the organization develop and implement a strategy that not only served the local community but also impacted families internationally through digital avenues, social media, and strategic email campaigns. In September of 2021, she assumed her current role as head of the nonprofit. She has the privilege of writing a weekly column for the Chattanooga Times Free Press, representing the Chattanooga Nonprofit Alliance, and serving on the Juvenile Commission for the Hamilton County Juvenile Court.

Born and raised in Chattanooga, she currently lives in the downtown area with her husband Daniel; their 4-year-old son, Strider; their 3-month-old daughter, Larkin; and their sweet rescue puppy, Ida Mae.

Lauren is grateful that the Lord has provided her with the opportunity to serve Him and the community she loves by providing resources that guide people in their relationships.

Southern Adventist University alumni, faculty, and staff honor Lauren Hall for her dedication to helping families around the world start and stay strong.

HONORED ALUMNI

GRADUATE STUDIES ALUMNUS OF THE YEAR

Bradford Goodridge, '13 and '15

After earning his bachelor's in theology, Bradford felt called to pursue a master's degree in school counseling. He was inspired by a former associate pastor at his home church in Duluth, Georgia. Pastor Gary would visit with students at lunch and took the time to get to know them. Bradford wanted to be like him, to dedicate his time to serving students on a daily basis. He credits his professors in the School of Education, Psychology, and Counseling for helping him to discover this passion. Though he never expected to major in theology and school counseling, it turned out to be the perfect combination for him.

Since 2019, Bradford has been serving as an elementary school counselor with Hamilton County Schools in Chattanooga. He teaches regularly on mental health, feelings and emotions, and character traits. He runs small groups that provide students with an opportunity to share their thoughts, learn from each other, and cling to a sense of belonging. For him, the best part of a school day is when he can sit down with students for lunch or catch up with them on the swings at recess.

Bradford is also the team lead for Table Talk, a Sabbath School class for grades 5-8 at Crosswalk Church in Chattanooga. He's been teaching there for four years, and Table Talk is the cherry on top of his week. He loves to go from engaging with 500-plus students at his school to a single class at church that has grown from five kids to a group of almost 30. They dig deep into the Bible, and it is clear to Bradford that the Holy Spirit is guiding their conversations.

"I never expected [this path], but I wouldn't change a thing," he says. "God has taken me on a journey that has introduced me to little smiling faces I hope to know for all eternity."

Southern Adventist University alumni, faculty, and staff honor Bradford Goodridge for his dedication to helping children understand the importance of mental health and a careful reading of the Bible.

SOUTHERN LADY OF THE YEAR

Linda (Haynes) Marlowe, '97

In 1972, Linda Marlowe moved to Collegedale to begin what she thought would be four years of working in Southern's School of Nursing while her husband, Jim, '76, attended Southern Missionary College. Little did she know that Jim would spend his teaching career in the Hamilton County School System and her four years would turn into 41.

Linda had previously graduated from Knoxville Business College and worked in banking. She later earned her BA in English from Southern.

Describing her time at Southern as more than she could have imagined, Linda loved working in an environment where she could share her faith openly. Somewhere along the way, she realized it was not just a job, but a ministry, and that made all the difference. Her greatest pleasure is fostering others to achieve and be what God intends for them, and she would glow with joy for each student who met a goal of graduating and becoming an RN or starting a marriage, career, and family. She rejoiced with faculty as they received their master's degrees and doctorates. The many relationships kept her dedicated to her work. "Every day was different; new prospective students and their families, current students, faculty, staff, and alumni would all visit my office," she says.

Linda also served on numerous university committees, her favorite being the Employee Events Committee, which she chaired for many years and continues to serve on as a Lights Volunteer. Linda helped with Preparing to Meet the Firms and was the business etiquette and dining presenter. Again, she found it rewarding to see students gain confidence as they developed skills needed for entering the corporate world.

Her service to the church includes ministry as a children's Sabbath school leader, Vacation Bible School volunteer, Sabbath school superintendent, deaconess, and First Impressions Ministry leader.

Jim and Linda thank God for their almost 55 years of marriage and are involved in one another's activities and volunteerism. Both are Southern Lights Volunteers. They enjoy spending time with family and friends and their cat, Ebony; hiking; studying the Bible; and just being together.

Southern Adventist University alumni, faculty, and staff honor a beloved Linda Marlowe for her years of dedicated service to the school, church, and community as a role model who reflects the love of Christ.

HONORARY ALUMNUS

Ben Wygal

His high school sweetheart, Reika, introduced Ben Wygal to the Seventh-day Adventist Church more than six decades ago. Their connection with Southern began in the late 1960s when he spoke for convocation in the old Tabernacle. In the early 1970s, he was elected to the Board of Trustees and served for three decades.

After his official retirement, Ben and Reika moved to Chattanooga, and soon afterward he joined Southern as assistant to the president, a position he has held for the last two decades. He currently assists President Ken Shaw, '80, with extending the presence of Southern throughout the community and enhancing collaboration opportunities for the university with business, industry, and economic development. He also has taught several graduate classes for the School of Business.

Ben holds a doctorate from The University of Texas at Austin, where he was a Kellogg Fellow and member of the Phi Kappa Phi honor society. He accepted a Distinguished Alumnus Award from UT in 1982, was awarded the Hall of Honor Medal from Phi Theta Kappa honor society, and received the Meritorious Civilian Service Medal from the United States Air Force.

Over his career, he served as academic dean of Dalton State College in Georgia, president of Florida State College at Jacksonville, president of Union College in Nebraska, president of Life Care Centers of America, and senior advisor for healthier communities for Adventist Healthcare in Maryland.

Ben has been a member of many boards, including the American Association of Community Colleges, the regional accreditation association Executive Council, and United Way of Greater Chattanooga. He has served as chair of the Board of Visitors of the Community College of the Air Force, as president of the Florida Association of Colleges and Universities, and as chair of the Samaritan Center board of directors.

Ben and Reika have established an endowed scholarship at Southern and are members of the President's Circle. Asked why he continues to work at Southern for 20 years after supposedly retiring, he says: "I continue to be excited about sharing stories about our students, faculty, and staff with leaders in the community and facilitating connections. It is so gratifying to observe Southern's wonderful reputation in the larger community."

Southern Adventist University alumni, faculty, and staff honor Ben Wygal for his many years of dedicated service to higher education and to Southern's administration, students, and community.
